Letter from Umatilla.

UMATILLA, March 18, 1865.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

I have at last, through mercy, reached Umatilla, and I must say that I am really agreeably disappointed. I had made up my mind, from representations made to me in the Dalles, that it was nothing more than a sand-bank, with a few shanty stores, but I find it a place of no mean dimensions. There are perhaps eight hundred inhabitants, with three first-class hotels, well kept; eighteen stores that do a large business, both wholesale and retail; and besides all this, there are any amount of smaller shops for customers in the city, the Mountaineer to the contrary notwithstanding. And just here, while speaking of that paper, allow me to say that in regard to matters written of about this place by one purporting to be a citizen of Umatilla, he either was a fool or wilfully lied. That's plain, but it is nevertheless true. One of the statements in the letter referred to was like this: He (I think the wisdom editor) said that it was a matter of impossibility for strangers to get accommodations here, and equally impossible for them to get out of town, from the fact that there were nothing but half-starved Cayuses, held at exhorbitant prices, wherewith to leave the place, except by stage, and that the fare had been raised to an unreasonable rate on that line of travel. That is simply a fabrication. All persons coming here have been amply provided for. Cayuse horses are in better condition than usual for this season of the year. In fact, all we have seen are fat, and I have had them offered to me at about, an average price of forty-five dollars. As to the stage fare, the agent says that no advance has been made, nor is it intended, although the snow in the mountains causes considerable delay and makes it less remunerative than in former seasons. Now, if the man that does up such writing for the Mountaineer will occupy his proper sphere in writing up the Mint question, he will have enough to attend to, and more than he will ever accomplish, if he proposes to locate it at the Dalles. Umatilla is now the county seat by vote of last Monday, and, so far in this season, the head of navigation. It is the most direct point from which to ship goods to Owyhee and Boise, and really, so far as we can judge, the most eligible location for the Mint. In spite of all that has been said and done as against this place, it is rapidly growing up, and the present indications are that more goods will be brought and shipped from here than ever before. There are trains here from all the camps in the upper country, and two large trains are about ready to start for the Kootenain mines. Dr. Farnham is shipping the mill of the New York Company from this place. He will use about fourteen wagons and about one hundred mules and oxen in his train. Mr. Carr has the contract.

The weather is beautiful—no snow, and a nice, warm breeze from the South. During the last twenty-four hours the Columbia has risen about eighteen inches. The probabilities now are that the next steamer will go farther up the river. Should I go up farther in the country I shall write again.

A singular thing happened here last night, when the dispatches were being read in your paper in regard to Sheridan's capture of Early. In Hill & Kane's store is a model of a full-rigged man-of-war, built by Phil. Sheridan, which was sold at the late Sanitary Fair at Salem. Just as the words that related to the capture escaped the readers mouth, the three small flags at the masts commenced waving and kept it up for five minutes. This may be an omen of what is yet due this heroic man. It was at any rate a singular or affair, as everything was perfectly still in the room.

COLONEL.

Tonnage of Vessels.

The law of Congress of May 6, 1864, for the admeasurement of the tonnage of vessels requires all vessels of the United States to be re-measured, and re-registered, by the new measurment, on their first arrival at any Custom House in the United States, after the 1st of January, 1865, and before their departure from such collection district.

In compliance with the law, all vessels of the United States, as fast as they arrive at any Custom House, or apply for registers, or licenses, are being surveyed and admeasured for ascertaining their tonnage under the new law. Vessels of single decks, such as were intended more especially for carrying merchandise cargo, are found, generally, to have less tonnage, legal tonnage, by the new measurement than by the old. This is owing mostly to the fact that by the new measurement the exact interior capacity of such vessel is measured and then about the bulk of threetons of water allowed to each ton of their measurement; while by the old rule of measurement the exterior dimensions of the vessel, with certain specified proportional deductions, the same for every shaped vessel,—reduced to capacity and a little less than three tons space of water allowed for each ton of measurement.

But vessels of two or three decks, with cabins, saloons, and other passenger, crew and freight accommodations above the first deck, have their tonnage capacity very materially increased by the new law of measurement. Steam vessels, particularly, which are fitted up especially for the complete accommodation of passengers,—with staterooms, saloons, cabins, and all the paraphernalia of a complete city hotel—have their tonnage capacity increased from fifty to one hundred and fifty per cent. As the entrance and clearance fees at the Custom House, and the charges for wharfage and some other items of expense to vessels are rated in part by the tonnage, the inevitable result is that the owners of all the steamers and passenger vessels are at first disposed to dislike the new law of measurement. A little reflection, however, satisfies everybody, including the steamboat men, that the operation of the law is only just and proper. For instance, under the old law all the passenger capacity of vessels entirely, or nearly so, escaped taxation, or charges, on tonnage. This plainly was not right, for, often, if not always, the conveying of passengers is more profitable than of merchandise freight. There is less risk and labor, also lading, stowing, and unlading of passengers, than of merchandise cargo. If, then, the passenger capacity above decks, of vessels is very generally the most profitable portion of the vessel, why not have it counted in as a part of the tonnage? It appears to be right and proper that every capacity which a vessel has for making money or yielding profit to its owners, should be reckoned in to help make up the taxable capacity of the vessel.

It happens that all such passenger accommodations cost the builder in the first instance about the same as so much under deck tonnage would have cost. That fact indicates that it should be taxed.

In the registers of vessels under the new law the various portions of the ship which have been measured to make up the tonnage are particularly specified. The law seems to be up with the spirit of the times.—Marine Gazette.

War and Civilization.

War in its best phases is calculated to neutralize all the claims of civilization, and familiarize the minds of those engaged in scenes of horror and acts of barbarism. War tends to barbarism, and therefore the nations of earth have adopted a code to govern civilized warfare, and established rules which tend to ameliorate the condition of captives, and soften the asperities of war. Civil war is the acme of horrors, especially where two sections, bred to different interests, to different labors, and therefore cultivating different instincts, commence a war, governed on the one hand by law and a desire to preserve national unity, and on the other hand by a rage against the principles of civilization and the progress of the age, that can only be sated by the destruction of national unity and the establishment of barbarous institutions, to build thereon a framework of government whose whole structure should be hostile to the character of the age in which we live.

Nothing less barbarous than we have experienced was to be expected from a people who were either struggling to make slavery predominant in all the States or permanent within their own. The war was inaugurated by years of terror, when the fanaticism of pro-slavery sentiment formed a convenient limb and the most appropriate agent for the execution of many who became objects of suspicion, and led off the idea of secession by the perpetration of deeds of horror that will never be revealed until the final judgment. Even those who have won most renown on battle fields, fighting the bravest for disunion, have carried the taint of barbarism to their graves, and Stonewall Jackson, supposed to be a modern saint sprung from Virginia, is said, by his biographer and eulogist, to have early taken the position that, in this war, on the part of the South, no prisoners should be taken and no quarter given, and Stonewall Jackson was the mirror and the model of his class.

In nothing does the Northern character come out stronger than in the conduct of the war on the part of the Government at Washington, and the Southern mind is most faithfully and fully portrayed by the manner in which the war is prosecuted upon its part. Let alone all other points of contrast and take one look at the prisoners which are mutually exchanged. The exchange boat that comes down loaded with wasted, emaciated forms of Union soldiers released from Southern prisons, goes back filled with well fed and clothed rebels, who have fattened on full rations; have been well blanketed and clothed, warmed by good fires through Northern winters, kept cleanly, unless through their own neglect, and in time are returned to the ranks of Southern regiments again, with full physical power to prosecute the war against us. Look in contrast at the miserable wretches from Libby and Belle Isle, fortunate perhaps in not having died and rotted in prison pens, as so many thousands have, but returned to us with scarce life left them, and in many cases without the ability to ever recuperate to manhood's strength again.

The United States Sanitary Commission, in a large pamphlet of eighty-six pages, has made a report of the facts it has examined into, and the statements that cannot be contradicted which fill that book are calculated to appal with tales of horror the civilized world. There we see copied from photographs the miserable skeletons of what were men, now imbecile and idiotic, from the worse than death, found at Belle Isle and Andersonville. It is useless to describe what can be realized only when seen. There follow in the book hundreds of statements of wanton murders of Union prisoners; of thousands who starved and died; of filth and vermin; of exposure without the common clothing necessary; of cruelty the most infernal and of the mere pittance of food allowed, not sufficient in kind or quantity to support life. This comes to us from rebel prison pens, where tens of thousands, men with homes, where mother, wife and children watched and prayed for them, were allowed to die, cursed with a care that hurried death and made it a welcome as relief.

Contrasting to this are the facts set forth, that rebel prisoners in our hands draw full rations, warm and abundant clothing, and are furnished with plenty of blankets. Every facility is furnished at any expense to preserve life and health. All necessary comforts are provided, and the Government of the United States, during this great and aggravating war, shows that civilization is not lost in the years of conflict. Thus it should be. We believe our cause is just and that our claims to civilization prevent the possibility of retaliation. The world that looks on judges between us and them, and however much of crime and abuse creeps into public affairs as the natural consequence of war, and the venality of human nature, still let our record as a nation be maintained spotless and pure.

Red Bluff and Portland.—We don't like to continually be contradicting statements in the California press about the routes to Idaho, but as we don't intend to be misrepresented without reply, we must occasionally do so. A San Francisco correspondent of the Red Bluff Independent gives a statement of time occupied in going to Idaho City or Owyhee via Portland, which he contrasts with the Red Bluff route. We will give the figures and the true time in different columns:

		True time
San Francisco to Portland,	5 ds.	3½ ds.
Portland to Wallula or Umatilla,	2½	2
Wallula or Umatilla to Idaho City,	7	3
	14½	8½

When everybody knows that this is true, who knows anything about it, we don't see the use of lying about one route for the benefit of another. It may be apparently circuitous on the map going to Idaho from California by way of Portland, but the fact is, the route is well established, steamers and stages run regularly and safely, and the travel seeks this route in preference to the [illegible] so far afforded by any other. Soon our route will be improved to Owyhee by a direct road [illegible] to the Dalles.

Traveling in Disguise.—An amusing story is told of a California minstrel who undertook to leave San Francisco without liquidating his little bills. An officer charged with a warrant for his arrest, searched the steamer over and could find no trace of the delinquent. The officer was boasting of his success in preventing the departure, as he had not seen him on the steamer, when he was informed that a respectable looking colored woman among the passengers was no less than our minstrel commencing his travels in familiar disguise.

Nevada Senators.—Nye and Stewart, of Nevada, were [illegible] to seats in the U. S. Senate. They drew lots for the long and short term. Stewart drew the long term and Nye the short term, ending [illegible] years from the [illegible] of the present month.

Wreck of the Industry—Statement of Captain [illegible] Lewis.

[illegible], March 22, 1865.

Editor Oregonian:

[illegible] extract from the Astoria [illegible] of your issue of [illegible] referring to the wreck of the Industry, contains a reference to my [illegible] which [illegible] seem to bring [illegible] upon my actions in connection with the [illegible] of the persons on the wreck. [illegible] observation to be [illegible] [illegible] when I am [illegible] to be [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] through the [illegible] I was willing to risk the steamer was [illegible] taken [illegible] by the [illegible] parties. [illegible] leaving the [illegible] not [illegible] the several [illegible] courage [illegible] However, it was generally [illegible] that [illegible] Crosby, who had charge of the [illegible] approached [illegible] the breakers to safety. In conclusion, allow me to say, people are pregnant with suggestions as to what might and ought to have been done [illegible] Others besides themselves [illegible]

Why not [illegible] a little common sense [illegible] a while [illegible] long winded [illegible] Why not [illegible] their practicability in the [illegible] and manning a surf boat? An expenditure of an equal amount of energy as has been spent in fault finding, would have resulted in a practical relief of the unfortunate sufferers. Why have not a raft or some [illegible] and floated to the wrecked vessel? It is a matter of common sense in fact, that a strong current at times sets towards the stranded vessel. Upon my arrival here last Sunday morning, I suggested to take the Wright or some other vessel down in the vicinity of the wreck, and by getting line [illegible] raft to her. This [illegible] having a seemingly [illegible] practicability about it has not been acted upon. [illegible] others have, and [illegible] yet nothing [illegible] Strange that [illegible] so pregnant with suggestions, should bring forth nothing. If out of this great labor a surf-boat could be born and an Astorian capacity to man it [illegible] to the heavy chastening of the Astoria [illegible]

S. F. LEWIS.

A King in Debt.—The German newspapers have got hold of a shabby transaction, in which the King of Prussia cuts a rather undignified figure, while the King of Bavaria seems [illegible] in showing him up. The affair dates back as far as 1849, when his present Majesty, as Crown Prince, marched out [illegible] after the Schleswig-Holstein [illegible] to carry out his operations against the Federal [illegible] Baden. He had to cross the Rhine at the Bavarian village of Germersheim, where he halted with his suite on the 15th and 16th of June, taxing to the utmost capacities the cellar and larder of a local [illegible] He ran up a little bill of two hundred thalers, which, in the hurry of departure, he forgot to discharge, and the worthy Boniface has been ever since seeking redress, alternately at Munich and Berlin.

This summer he accosted his debtor personally during his visit to Baden Baden, and was told to forward his account to the Chancellor of the Household. The latter functionary has had full time to take the royal order for payment, but in November he forwarded to the innkeeper a document printed in all the Zeitungs along the Rhine, and signed "Buckow," to the effect that, as Crown Prince, he was then engaged in Federal execution at the cost either of the Diet or of Bavaria, to either of which paymasters the hotel bill for wine, [illegible] etc., was referred. "The accounts of the Crown Prince have been long since closed," equivalent to pleading the statute of limitations.

Mysterious Affair.—From the Seattle Gazette of March 13th we clip the following:

About two weeks ago, two men named Burgess and Thompson left their logging camp in the neighborhood of [illegible] Bay, bound for Seattle, and have not been heard from since. They were quite sick when they left camp, from the effects, it is thought, of drinking poisoned water or eating poisoned food. Nearly all the men in camp were suffering from the same cause. The two men had each a boat which they left, and their boats were found, several days after, a [illegible] and lashed together in Puyallup Bay. It is surmised that the men, finding themselves too unwell to proceed farther on their journey, landed on Vashon's Island, and have since died from exposure or the effects of the poison they had taken before leaving camp. It is disgraceful that the circumstances of this case have been known here and at other places along the Sound, since the finding of the boats, and yet, until yesterday morning, no effort was made, so far as we can learn, to send relief to the sufferers or even to recover the dead bodies.

Since the above was put in type we learn that the parties who went in search of the bodies, returned late last night, with the remains of the man Burgess. We have learned no further particulars.

Cause of Antagonism.—During the memorable debate in the United States Senate in 1848 when Hale stood as the champion of freedom, and Foote earned his title of Hangman [illegible], because he took the ground that Hale and all like him should be hung, Douglas made the following remarks on the origin of Abolition feeling in the North. Said he:

It is the speech of Southern men representing slave States, going to an extreme, breathing a [illegible] as well as [illegible] as that of the Senator from New Hampshire, which creates Abolitionism in the North. The extremes meet. It is no other than Southern Senators acting in concert, and yet without design, that produces Abolition.

This drew from [illegible] the assertion that he was as offensive as Hale. After cultivating Abolition sentiment in the manner laid down by Douglas for some thirty years, Calhoun and his school have finally accomplished Abolition. Now they would complain of their own success.

Petroleum on the Plains.—Since the oil fever has grown so great, a lady who crossed the plains in 1851 recurs to her journal kept on the journey to show that near Bear river she made a minute of seeing oil springs whose [illegible] was [illegible] on the surface with oil running [illegible] clear water underneath. Really, the symptoms are quite dangerous. She is talking of raising a company, going back and locating [illegible] on the oil business [illegible] only from its being that barrels cannot easily be obtained to haul the oil to a market for the sale [illegible] One consolation, however, is that it will [illegible] Territory which is [illegible]

Almost a Scare.—Not long since the people of Olympia were visited by a British gunboat in search of the British ship Moneta [illegible]. The gunboat merely [illegible] a requisition from Governor Kennedy [illegible] authorities demanding the ship, which had come to be [illegible] the Admiralty courts and the [illegible] of Washington Territory [illegible] The Olympians [illegible] the point where the gunboat properly [illegible] ship [illegible]

An Outlaw Scene.—[illegible] of long standing existing between [illegible] River [illegible] Saturday last. [illegible] Mr. [illegible] two [illegible] was [illegible] deadly enemy. [illegible] and [illegible] as a [illegible] startling picture [illegible] outlaw life.—Sacramento Union.

THE WORLD RENOWNED

SINGER SEWING MACHINES!

MANUFACTORY:

182, 184, 186, 188 [illegible] Mott Street, New York.

Motto—"The Singer Sewing Machines are the only Machines that can Sew all kinds of Cloth, and with all kinds of Thread."

Singer's Letter A Family Machine is the best and cheapest Machine in the world for Family Sewing. There is no doubt as to the value of our Machines for manufacturing purposes, but it is only of late that the public has begun to learn that the essential elements of a Machine best adapted to the heaviest work, would also be the elements to be embodied in a Family Machine.

We would ask for our Letter A Machines the attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want Machines for Light Manufacturing Purposes. They embody the principles of the Manufacturing Machines, making the same [illegible] stitch and are destined to be as celebrated for FAMILY SEWING and Light Manufacturing purposes, as our Manufacturing Machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINES are valuable in proportion to the number of things they can do well. See what ours can do before making a purchase.

All persons requiring information about Sewing Machines, their sizes, prices, working capacities, and the best method of purchasing, can obtain it by sending for a copy of the SINGER MANUFACTURING COMPANY'S ILLUSTRATED PAMPHLET, which is entirely devoted to the subject. It will be sent Gratis.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.—We have received during the past three days a number of communications on the subject of street improvements, all of which we should like to publish, if, for one reason, some of them were not [illegible], but we have not space enough to accommodate our correspondents. These letters are written by experienced individuals, and we are perfectly willing to submit them to the inspection of the committee from the Council who now have the matter of street improvements under advisement, if it will serve the purpose for which they have been written, and by consent of the writers. A series of experiments [illegible] of the Nicholson pavement, [illegible] The durability of this pavement has been pretty well tested in Chicago. The Chief Engineer of that city says:

I have recently seen [illegible] the Clarke, which were [illegible] and originally six inches in height, measured [illegible] with the [illegible] were perfectly sound. This [illegible] in excellent order; has required no repairs [illegible]

In Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Memphis and other cities, where this pavement has been tried, its superiority over all others is questioned by none. We copy the following from the Milwaukee News of a recent date:

We notice that an effort is now being made for the adoption of the Nicholson pavement in [illegible]. To those familiar with this improvement [illegible] It is easy to cleanse and never requires repairing. It effectually dispenses with the bang and clang of hoofs and wheels peculiar to most other pavements, [illegible] the cobble stone style. Pedestrians may cross it without danger of falling or breaking an ankle. [illegible] freely cheap and durable. This [illegible] experience shows that it is liable to none of the [illegible] which have been [illegible] urged against every other [illegible] in this important department [illegible]. A large city might better sell its omnibus lines and street cars than endeavor to get along without the Nicholson pavement. It is especially adapted to be a commercial street like San Francisco, which seems in this respect not to have sustained its general reputation for discernment and enterprise.

MORE ABOUT THE WRECK.—Three of the sailors who left the wreck of the bark Industry on Friday last, are now in this city, and from them we learn sufficient information has been obtained to add new hope that the survivors on the wreck, Capt. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Marks, Mr. Bean, and three seamen, would yet be saved. These unfortunate persons, through the efforts of Capt. Lewis seem to have been provided with a quantity of subsistence to serve the purpose of life whilst they should be compelled to remain in the masts of the ill-fated ship, for safety from the angry breakers. An effort was being made yesterday, in strength of the hope for their relief, to charter the steamer R. N. Wright, whose commander appears willing to do all in his power, and make a bold attempt to reach the sufferers. Mayor Failing, Capt. B. F. Smith and others, we are informed were making arrangements for this worthy object. There seems no doubt but that if anything can be done in the matter it should be done immediately. The supposition is that those persons will not be able to contend against their hardships and exposure, and survive very much longer, and there being one ray of hope lingering it should nerve every human to some exertion for their rescue. The thought of a woman perishing in such a situation would be hard indeed. We are not inclined to doubt but that our people will take prompt action in the matter, and do whatever can be done for the unfortunate ones remaining to be saved.

PETROLEUM.—The reason assigned for the raise in the price of petroleum or coal oil, on this coast recently, is the falling off in exports at the east, in consequence of the great California oil bubble, recently inaugurated in Atlantic cities, promising a product of untold millions as the yield of the yet unexplored wells of California. The commercial reporter of the Bulletin says this falling off had a telling effect upon the receipts of the article in San Francisco, and traders have for some time past been endeavoring to corral all available stocks on hand and to arrive, at enhanced figures, in anticipation of an approaching scarcity and high prices, so soon as the interior trade begins to open up. Coal oil, according to ancient history, is no new thing, but may be considered as "old as the hills." Herodotus, as well as other ancient Greeks, whose writings are yet used as text books, talks of the collection of petroleum or oil emerging out of rocks in the isle of Zante, in the west of Greece. Herodotus held forth about two thousand three hundred years ago. The old patriarch Job also probably had some oil wells on his farm, or the abstracts of discovery pre-emptions in his mind, when he made use of the expression—"the rock poured out rivers of oil."

AN ORIGINAL PRODUCTION.—A document with the following address has reached our table: "To his excellency the Editor of the OREGONIAN." The following inscription also appears upon the envelope, which we take to be the "headings" of what may be read within: "The last link of the spirit of darkness anilized with power and perfection in junction with the chain of bondage in the spirit of darkness and what last link is that thing called spiritualism medium clairvoyance which is deceit and deception in the genuine spirit of darkness and the closing destroyers link and also a few words about Lincoln Grant and Sherman." Here let us grab our breath. Having passed through so much of the document at railroad speed, we consider the subject would be worse to us than "chain lightning," and refer the matter back to the author with a recommendation that he discontinue his original thought, and determine to forward the manuscript to the Secretary of State, who would no doubt be "pleased" to receive it.

POSTAL AFFAIRS.—There is great need of some improvement on the present arrangement of carrying the United States Mail to portions of Oregon, Washington Territory, and Idaho, or the service might as well be discontinued. A letter was received in the city yesterday, from Canyon City, which states that at the time of writing a bundle of weekly papers, forty-nine days from Portland, had just arrived there. The time for all such slow coach operations is past. The necessity for the appointment of a reliable Agent, and for such Agent to make prompt report to the Department, and for that Department to act reasonably in the matter, is every day apparent.

STAMP DUTIES.—It should be understood by everybody that a failure to comply with the stamp law not only invalidates every document left unstamped, but subjects all parties to heavy penalties. Quite a number of suits for disregarding the act of Congress in this respect, have been commenced in the United States District Court at San Francisco.

LEGAL TENDERS.—We understand several parties in the city have made a tender of currency for their taxes due the municipal government—which has of course been refused by the City Collector, and a law suit is apt to be the next resort, in which the city will very likely be plaintiff.

THE JONATHAN.—The C. S. N. Company's steamship Brother Jonathan sailed from San Francisco on Tuesday evening for this port direct. She will also return from this port direct to San Francisco.

THE GEORGE S. WRIGHT.—This steamer will delay her trip to Victoria one day, starting this evening at eight o'clock, instead of last evening as had been previously announced, unless she is chartered for the purpose of visiting the wreck.

SOLD!—Richardson "knocked off" a very large invoice of boots and shoes yesterday, besides an assortment of other and desirable goods. His next regular sale will be on Saturday.

MISS DIVINE, in consequence of a slim audience last evening, postponed her concert until some more favorable occasion.

DIDN'T WANT THEM.—The Christian Commission wanted to send some of its members to visit the captives of the Union armies at the South, and General Grant offered to extend the same courtesy, but Jeff. Davis refused to let them pass.

"Alas! for the rarity
Of Christian charity
Under the sun."

LEFFEL'S AMERICAN
DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEEL!

LEFFEL'S AMERICAN TURBINE HAS many advantages over all other Wheels, both Turbine and Overshot.

It has competed successfully with every variety of Wheel, and has always proved itself victorious.

This Wheel has been in use nearly Three Years in the States and HAS NEVER MADE A FAILURE.

It is CHEAPER than an Overshot, MORE DURABLE, and will YIELD A HIGHER PER CENT. OF POWER from the same quantity of water. We have introduced five on this coast. They are not all in operation yet, but will be in a few days. The following testimonial is from an old and experienced Millwright, well known in this State:

WESTPORT, [illegible] Co., OREGON,
Nov. 19th, 1864.

MESSRS. LEFFEL & MYERS—Dear Sirs: We have plenty of water now, and your DOUBLE TURBINE is a success. [illegible] We are satisfied that your Wheel is fully equal, if not superior to the Overshot. With the same water that the Overshot uses, we can do more work with the Turbine than with the Overshot. I have tried many Wheels which were claimed to be superior to the Overshot, but yours is the first I have found. Hence we do not hesitate to recommend the American Double Turbine as the most efficient economizer of water in my knowledge.
JOHN WEST & CO.

We desire all who want Wheels to visit the following named places and have ocular demonstration of the above facts:

John West & Co. West Port, Clatsop County, Oregon.
Lewis Love, Vancouver, W. T.
L. [illegible] Lambert, [illegible] City, [illegible]
Hampton Kelly, 12 miles East of Portland.
Sawyer & Co., Oregon City.
Dec 2, 1864.

Address
LEFFEL & MYERS,
Portland, Oregon,
Care Richards & McCraken.

N. B.—A new supply of Wheels will be brought out next May or June. Orders will be filled and supplied according to date of order. dec3dlawtf

DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Although the fame of this renowned invigorant rests mainly on its astonishing cures of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and Intestinal disorders, it is equally efficacious in nervous complaints. Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headaches, vertigo, general debility and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and lightens the depressed mental powers as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any unpleasant reaction.—Sold by Druggists and dealers everywhere. m12

There is no time for delay.—When the lungs become diseased, the first symptoms in Pulmonary Consumption is a dry hacking cough, sometimes attended with pains in the chest, and difficulty of breathing. One of the best remedies to use is Allen's Lung Balsam. It checks the [illegible] For sale by

Also, by the Dealers in Family Medicines generally.

A Single Box of Brandreth's Pills contains more vegetable extractive matter than twenty boxes of any pills in the world besides; fifty-five hundred physicians use them in their practice to the exclusion of other purgatives. The first letter of their value is yet scarcely appreciated. When they are better known sudden death and continued sickness will be things of the past. Let those who know them speak right out in their favor. It is a duty which will save life.

Our climate is subject to a redundancy of vitiated bile at this season, and it is as dangerous as it is prevalent; but Brandreth's Pills afford an invaluable and efficient protection. By their occasional use we prevent the collection of those impurities, which, when in sufficient quantities, cause so much danger to the body's health. They soon cure Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, pain in the head, heartburn, pain in the breast-bone, sudden faintness and costiveness.

The Dew-Drop and the Stream.

The following [illegible] the production of a servant girl [illegible]:—

The bushes with golden flowers were crowned,
And [illegible] was heard around,
When, o'er the earth, a dew-drop shed
Its lustre [illegible] light,
And trembling [illegible] the breeze it sang to
The streamlet, as it rolled along,
The beauties of the morn confessed,
And thus the sparkling pearl addressed:

"Sure, little drop [illegible] we may,
For all is beautiful and gay,
Creation [illegible]
And [illegible]
And with delight and pride I see
That little [illegible] by thee
Thy lustre [illegible]

"Ay, [illegible]
Replied the [illegible]
"You will, [illegible]
To flocks and herds a blessing prove;
But when the sun ascends on high,
Its beams will draw me toward the sky,
And I must own my little power
I've but refreshed an humble flower."

"Hold!" [illegible] the stream, [illegible]

SPEECH BY PRESIDENT LINCOLN.—A serenading party on the serenading party on the night of February first, having played several airs before the White House, the President appeared at the center upper window under the portico, and was greeted with loud cheers. The President said he supposed the passage through Congress of the constitutional amendment for the abolishment of slavery throughout the United States, was the occasion to which he was indebted for the honor of this call. [Applause.] The occasion was one of congratulation to the country and the whole world. But there is a task yet before us—to go forward and consummate by the votes of the States what Congress so nobly began yesterday. [Applause, and cries, "They will do it," &c.] He had the honor to inform those present that Illinois had already done the work. [Applause.] Maryland was about half through; but he felt proud that Illinois was a little ahead. He thought this measure was very fitting, if not an indispensable adjunct to the winding up of the great difficulty. [Applause.] He wishes the reunion of all the States perfected and so effected as to remove all causes of disturbance in the future, and to attain this end it was necessary that the original disturbing cause should, if possible, be rooted out. He thought all would bear him witness that he had never shrunk from doing all that he could to eradicate slavery by issuing an Emancipation Proclamation. [Applause.] But the proclamation falls far short of what the amendment will be when fully consummated. A question might be raised whether the proclamation was legally valid. It might be added that it only aided those who came into our lines, and that it was inoperative as to those who did not give themselves up, or that it would have no effect on the children of the slaves born hereafter. In fact it would be urged that it did not meet the evil. But this amendment is a king's cure for all the evils. [Applause.] It winds the whole thing up. He would repeat that it was the fitting, if not the indispensable adjunct to the consummation of the great game we are playing. He could not but congratulate all present, himself, the country and the whole world upon this great moral victory.

A FELL STOP.—An innocent old lady, who never before had "rid on a railroad," was passenger on one of the Vermont railroads at the time of a recent collision, when a freight train collided with a passenger train, smashing one of the cars, killed several of the passengers, and upsetting things generally. As soon as he could recover his scattered senses, the conductor went in search of the venerable dame, whom he found sitting solitary and alone in the car (the other passengers having sought terra firma), with a very placid expression upon her countenance, notwithstanding she had made a complete summersault over the seat in front and her bandbox and bundle had gone unceremoniously down the passage way. "Are you hurt?" inquired the conductor. "Hurt, why?" said the old lady. "We have just been run into by a freight train, two or three passengers have been killed, and several others severely injured." "La me! I didn't know but that was the way you always stopped."—Vermont Record.

A very important undertaking has just been successfully accomplished by the engineers of the Mississippi squadron. All readers will remember the loss of the iron-clad gunboat Indianola, which, after successfully running the gauntlet of the enemy's batteries during the siege of Vicksburg, was sunk in the fight with the rebel ram Webb and the captured Union gunboat Queen of the West. The Indianola has lain apparently a useless wreck upon the bar of Davis' bend, opposite Joe Davis' plantation, thirty-five miles below Vicksburg, from that time until now. Her machinery, guns, and upper works are all gone, the more valuable portions having been taken away by the Union authorities after the fall of Vicksburg, and the balance washed away by the current. The hull, on being set afloat, was found to be very strong and in excellent condition, scarcely the least injury having been sustained, either in the fight or by the long immersion it had undergone.

In the battle in front of Nashville it is stated that Colonel Jackson, of the Indiana Cavalry, greatly distinguished himself. A lady of Tennessee writes: "Colonel Jackson is spoken of by the Generals in command and by all the soldiers, as the bravest man on the field, leading his men in every charge. With a detachment of fifteen cavalrymen he charged a rebel battery, supported by one hundred soldiers, routed the force and captured and brought off the guns. In this charge he encountered General Buford and his Aid, and, unsupported, he engaged both of them in a hand to hand conflict. With a stroke of his sabre he severed the head of the Aid from his body, then attacked the rebel General with great fury and put him to flight, but not until he had inflicted severe wounds upon him." The lady adds that this account is true, as she heard it from the lips of rebel Generals, who spoke in no stinted terms of the gallantry of Colonel Jackson. Union officers also vouch for the truth of the statement.

A story is told of the colonels of two regiments engaged at Mission Ridge. They had been classmates and chums at Waterville College, Maine, but when the war broke out one went with the South and the other remained true to the Union. They were both mortally wounded in the battle, and after the fighting was over a mutual friend found them lying side by side on the battle field, with their right hands clasped, and both dead. They had evidently recognized each other after being wounded, and the old ties of friendship had asserted their supremacy, and together their spirits had passed into the eternal world. Side by side in the same grave they sleep their last sleep.

EUREKA

IMPROVED SELF-ADJUSTING

CLOTHES WRINGER

AWARDED THE FIRST PREMIUM
AT OREGON STATE FAIR, IN 1864.

Abstract from Examining Committee's Report of the San Francisco MECHANICS' INSTITUTE INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION, OF 1864.

"CLOTHES WRINGERS.—A variety of these Excellent Household Helps were found competing for popular favor. Though none of them are entitled to a Premium, we consider the EUREKA, exhibited by M. E. Thayer & Bro., worthy of honorable mention." [illegible]

The EUREKA CLOTHES WRINGERS are made Superior to all others in CONVENIENCE and DURABILITY by the use of

PATENT ELLIPTICAL STEEL SPRINGS,

Which produce a UNIFORM PRESSURE upon garments and Clothes of every size.

The IMPROVED EUREKA has the HINGE CLAMP, which will fit any Tub or Box perfectly. Its construction is simple and excellent. Every Family should have one. It will soon REPAY ITS COST IN SAVING [illegible] and Clothes. M. E. THAYER & BRO., General Agents.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLOUR ALBUS,

And in every disease in any way connected with the disorder or decay of the PROCREATIVE FUNCTIONS. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step, his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor.—This medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER,
INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL
URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females,

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back, and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the Lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD, heals the irritated parts, gives strength to the digestive organs, brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness, which is the case with most remedies, or affect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.
